

REGISTER TODAY!

Christopher
3 months

Christopher Blaesing Lactation Education Conference
Tuesday, Oct. 21, 2014

8 a.m. - Check-in

8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. - Conference

Briggs & Stratton Auditorium, Children's Hospital of Wisconsin

9000 W. Wisconsin Ave., Milwaukee

Conference highlights

Attendees will learn about:

- How maternal stress and cultural beliefs may impact breastfeeding and lactation for our mothers
- The United States health policy in promotion of mother's own milk and pasteurized donor human milk
- How to manage delicate conversations with families about breastfeeding
- Establishing pasteurized donor human milk as a standard in hospital specific newborn populations

Keynote speaker

Dr. Nancy Hurst, PhD, RN, IBCLC, is the director of Women's Support Services for the Texas Children's Hospital (TCH) Pavilion for Women. The areas under her direction include the Lactation and Milk Bank Services and Patient Education Program. For the past 30 years she has managed all clinical, operational and research activities for the Lactation and Milk Bank services at TCH.

Who should attend

This event is geared toward neonatal nurse practitioners, registered nurses, lactation professionals, dietitians and social workers. Earn 5.5 CERP or CEU education credits by attending this event.

Register now: maxishare.com/conferences and click on "Christopher Blaesing Lactation Education Conference"

If you have questions, contact Andrea Salamon at (414) 266-3049 or asalamon@chw.org.

